GREAT ANTI-U.S. DEMONSTRATION IN JAPANESE CAPITAL

HERRIOT DECLINES FRENCH LEADERSHIP

Refuses to Form Cabinet
While Millerand Continues
As President

Millerand Has no Intention of Voluntarily Offering His Resignation

Paris, June 5.—Edouard Herriot, the Radical leader, has declined to undertake the formation of a Ministry to succeed the Poincare Cabinet, it was announced this evening.

When President Millerand offered the premiership to M. Herriot, which he did after taking the advice of the Presidents of the two Houses of Parliament, M. Herriot raised the question of the President's continuation in office. President Millerand reiterated his determination to remain for the full constitutional term and M. Herriot then declined the task of forming a Ministry.

OPPOSITION VOICED

Paul Painleve, when he took the chair after his election as President of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday afternoon, spoke of the attitude of his political adversaries, who showed rather aggressively their disapproval of some of his remarks on interior politics.

M. Painleve criticised severely what he called "the campaign of the defeated parties against French credit." A systematic effort, he declared, had been made since the general election to represent the incoming Government as dangerous to finance.

CONFIDENCE NEEDED

"The new Government," he said, "requires confidence, and confidence will balance the budget. This declaration caused disorder, which was prolonged. During an exchange of epithets the Socialists and Communists pelted each other with superlatives. M. Painleve hurried through the rest of the speech and adjourned the session as quickly as possible.

CHALLENGE TO TAKE ISSUE TO CIVIC POLLS

Long Discussion on High School Fees in Victoria
Trustee Brown Fails to Get Support For Plan Beginning in Second Year

A challenge to make the High School fees question an issue at the next civic election, with Trustee Brown on the side favorable to their inauguration, and Trustee Litchfield against them, was made last evening in the City School Board by Mr. Litchfield.

He made the challenge when discussion had proceeded for an hour and a half on the interim report of the finance committee on school economics. That report said in one clause that Trustee Brown's motion would only produce $2,000, and that there are many educational and community disadvantages involved in the proposal.

Trustee Brown had endeavored to get before the board his motion to inaugurate fees in the second year of the High School course. Failing to secure the submission of the motion as a direct resolution, he secured the discussion of it as a substitute amendment. Thus the majority, by adopting the clauses in the interim report dealing with fees, were placed in a position to reject the principle of fees, and so would kill the purpose of the resolution.

This the majority did after a lengthy discussion, only Trustee Brown supporting his amendment. Although Trustee Feden spoke strongly in favor of some effort to cut out the cost of "repeaters" in the classes who were gaining no advantage from their school work.

Trustee Litchfield voiced his challenge when the majority declared there was no real opinion behind the fees question, and that it was contrary to educational practice to have fees for secondary education in this country.

Fines alone totaled $144,955.

M'RAE MADE HUGE PORT MANN PROFITS OR ACTED AS SHIELD FOR FRAUD, OLIVER CHARGES

What Corporation Is He Shielding In Present Political Fight, Premier Demands In Fighting Reply To Provincial Party Chief; Would Oppose Peace River Extension Out Of Provincial Treasury, But Hopes For Ottawa Aid

By Staff Representative

Cobble Hill, June 5.—If General A. D. McRae did not make enormous profits out of the notorious Port Mann promotion, as he asserts, then he acted as a shield for the Mackenzie and Mann in defrauding the people of British Columbia of $571,000.

This grave charge, backed by documentary evidence, came as a climax to Premier Oliver's fighting speech here last night.

"I say," the Premier declared emphatically, as he took up the Provincial Party's recent claim that General McRae only received $1 from the Canadian Northern Railway for Port Mann holdings, "that it is not true that price of the land was $1. Or if it is true then General McRae acted as a shield for Mackenzie and Mann in getting $571,000 from the people of British Columbia by fraud."

"If General McRae acted as a shield for Mackenzie and Mann for some ten years is it not reasonable to suppose that he is acting as a shield for someone now? If he is a shield for someone now, who is it? He is paying out money for scores of employees—I must assume that they are paid—who are going from house to house canvassing all over the Province. He is acting for some corporation, which is afraid that it will be recognized and that its motives will be recognized."

"I say that General McRae collected campaign funds for the Conservative Government from the timber men in 1909 and he has been forced to admit it."

"I say that the Provincial Party purchased perjured evidence to support their charges against public men."

"This is the type of man who claims to be the political Moses, who can lead British Columbia out of the wilderness!"

Canadian Daily Newspapers' Association Delegates in Vancouver To-day

Vancouver, June 5.—"While Canadian journalism has its imperfections, it may be honestly claimed that it is seldom charged that it is open to corrupt approach. At noon they attended a Canadian Club luncheon, going into session again in the afternoon.

Paris, June 5.—Sadi Lecoq is trying out an aeroplane which is claimed to be the fastest ever made, having a speed of 280 miles an hour and with which he hoped to wrest the world's speed record of 429.025 kilometres an hour, or nearly 267 miles, from Lieut. A. J. Williams of the United States.

ELECTRIC RAILWAY SHOPMEN'S STRIKE BRINGS INCONVENIENCE TO RESIDENTS IN LONDON AREA

London, June 5.—An unofficial strike broke out to-day among the shopmen at the London electric railway workshops and power stations and on the Great Western Railway. The demand of an increase of ten shillings in the weekly wage, with a minimum of £3, the inclusion of sixteen shilling and six-pence war bonus, in their present wage, and one week's holiday yearly on full pay, was denied.

The suddenness of the strike, which became effective at midnight caused considerable inconvenience to thousands of workers using the stations in the north of London affected by the strike, and this inconvenience spread later in the morning to the underground system, where only a skeleton service was being maintained this morning. Entry tube stations were closed because many of the employees of the big Chelsea power station ceased work in sympathy with the strikers.

APPEAL MADE

The National Union of Railwaymen has not officially recognized the strike and has appealed to its members to remain at work, but there is fear the movement will spread as a crisis has developed in connection with demands made by the Associated Society of Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, which is holding the final session of its annual conference to-day. The members of the society threaten strike action unless the railway companies abolish certain classifications.

Washington, June 5.—Flagrant disregard of the law in negotiation of the Sinclair and Doherty oil leases was charged in a report to the Senate to-day prepared by its prosecutor, Senator Walsh of Montana.

The executive order by which President Harding transferred the old reserves from the National Department to the Interior Department was held in the report to have been illegal.

The manner in which the leases were negotiated secretly by former Secretary Fall was described as in disregard of the statutes.

The leases themselves were declared "indefensibly wasteful" and based on a policy which Congress alone had authority to determine.

Fall's acceptance of $100,000 from E. L. Doherty was characterized as "in the last degree reprehensible," although no opinion was expressed as to whether the payment was in fact a loan.

CLAIMS SHADOWY

Likewise without comment the report related how Sinclair expended $1,000,000 to clear Teapot Dome of conflicting claims, some of which, at least, it says, were "shadowy."

Former Secretary Denby of the Navy Department and Assistant Secretary Roosevelt were exonerated from "any part whatever" in the negotiations leading up to the lease.

The dragnet was immediately put out, and before the day was over the two girls had been found by detectives. They were handed over to their parents and returned to Victoria.

25,000 CITIZENS OF TOKIO START CAMPAIGN AGAINST U.S. JAPANESE EXCLUSION

Greatest Demonstration In Oriental Country Since New United States Immigration Law Became An Issue; Committee of 350 Formed To Direct Movement Throughout The Empire

Tokio, June 5.—The greatest anti-United States demonstration so far in the Japanese campaign against the exclusion clause of the new United States immigration law to-night, came as a climax to Tokio's day of public demonstration.

To-day had been made a public holiday for the state celebration of the wedding last January of Prince Regent Hirohito. That left the crowds free to gather and watch the passage of the Regent and his bride through the streets in the imperial automobile, as well as to gather at the railroad station for the departure of the retiring United States Ambassador, Cyrus E. Woods.

But to-night marked the high point of the holiday. A throng estimated at 25,000 persons jammed its way into the great wrestling hall at Ryogoku, the largest roofed assembling place in the Orient. Fiery speeches, bitter resolutions, all expressing the most intense opposition to the bar to Japanese immigration into the United States, were in order. Many emotional tributes were paid to the "unknown subject of the Mikado" who committed hari-kari near the ruins of the old United States Embassy last Saturday as a protest against the exclusion clause.

The meeting, which was under the auspices of a number of patriotic societies fighting exclusion, resulted in inauguration of the "Kokumi Taibakai," of which an accurate translation is "National Association to direct American policy."

ITS PROGRAMME

The Kokumi Taibakai adopted the following programme:

Making of the anti-exclusion movement nation-wide by sending representatives to all parts of the country and calling protest meetings.

Collection of a national anti-exclusion campaign fund.

Appointment of an executive committee of 350 to direct the campaign.

Holding of a memorial service for the "unknown subject of the Mikado" at Aoyama Cemetery, the last resting place of many Japanese nobles, next Sunday.

To-night's gathering included members of all political parties in both Houses of the Diet, as well as large numbers of retired officers of the army and navy and leaders of the "Nippon Spirit Movement," and the "Black Dragon Society."

HIROHITO CHEERED

During the day, when the wedding of Prince Regent Hirohito and Princess Nagako-Kuni was being celebrated, there was a tremendous turnout of the populace.

The imperial couple, after a reception to the municipal officials at the Imperial Palace in the morning, motored through streets lined twenty deep for a distance of two miles. The rolling of "banzais" marked the progress of the big red imperial automobile.

A heavy detail of police guarded the route to the Arakasa Palace, the couple's residence.

MANY FLAGS

The city was more highly beflagged and decorated than at any time since the installation of Hirohito as heir to the throne in 1916. A pageant of elaborate floats, symbolizing wishes for bliss and long life for the couple and the greatest of the people's loyalty, was run through the city. These floats were mounted on tram cars.

The crowds in front of the palace and along the short route were estimated to number 150,000 persons.

Meeting of Protest in Manitoba Capital Next Monday Night

Winnipeg, June 5.—Emphasizing that restoration of the Crow's Nest Pass agreement is of vital importance to the people of Western Canada, and that it will materially reduce the cost of various commodities to the consumers and have a decided effect in assisting to control freight rates on the Great Lakes, the Winnipeg Board of Trade, at a general meeting yesterday, adopted a resolution protesting against further suspension of the agreement. A copy of the resolution will be forwarded to Premier King and to the western members of the House of Commons.

It was also decided to hold a public meeting of protest here next Monday night.

M. P.'s To Debate Courts' Decision On Church Union

Ottawa, June 5 (Canadian Press).—The central issue as to whether the Church Union Bill should be left to the courts was again raised when the hearing on the bill was resumed by the Commons Private Bill Committee this morning.

J. L. Brown, Progressive, Lisgar, Manitoba, moved that the amendment to the preamble making the fate of the bill dependent upon the decision of the courts should be rescinded.

Chairman McGivern ruled that the motion should stand as a notice of motion for the next meeting and this was accepted.

missioned officers were killed and a fourth non-commissioned officer received injuries which are expected to prove fatal in an air disaster at the Yokohama naval base, on Tokio Bay, today.

LAUNDRY ESSENTIAL TO PUBLIC HEALTH

Importance of Plants in Community Recognized Everywhere

The importance of the modern laundry as a factor in the health, happiness and comfort of every large city is being stressed in an educational campaign by the members of the B. C. Laundry Owners' Association in conjunction with a campaign fostered by the association.

The development of the laundry industry in Victoria, according to local members of the association, has kept pace with the growth of the city. It represents one of the largest payrolls and its service is a sanitary necessity.

"The public rapidly is learning the value of the laundry industry," one of the bulletins sent out by the association states.

"It does a disagreeable task better than can be accomplished in the home. Its development into a modern plant represents a large investment in buildings, machinery and equipment. Its operation requires mechanical, chemical and textile knowledge of experts. The laundry business is a science. It involves a knowledge of the chemistry of soaps, dyes and waters; chemical cleaners and their effect on fabrics to prevent fading and shrinking."

MUST NOT NAME CABINET MEMBERS ATTENDING MEETING

Question Overruled During Investigation of Charges Against Labor Minister

Ottawa, June 5 (Canadian Press)—A ruling by Chairman Joseph E. Archambault that the oath of a Minister of the crown will not permit him to divulge the names of those attending a meeting of Cabinet members met strong opposition at the session of the parliamentary committee investigating the charges this morning against Hon. James Murdock, Minister of Labor.

E. Guss Porter, Conservative member for West Hastings, Ont., who made the charges against Mr. Murdock, asked the committee to question Hon. G. P. Graham, Minister of Railways.

He had asked Mr. Graham whether a meeting of the Cabinet was held on the morning of August 15, 1923, following the midnight visit of J. P. M. Stewart, one of the directors of the Home Bank to the Prime Minister and had received an affirmative reply.

"Who was present?" questioned Mr. Porter.

"I won't allow that question," objected the chairman, who went on to say that Chief Justice McKinnon had ruled such evidence out of order during the Home Bank inquiry.

"We are not bound by that ruling," Mr. Porter said. "I am not asking what occurred at the meeting."

Mr. Archambault would not allow the question.

E. B. Ryckman, Conservative member for East Toronto, appealed, saying that matters were being "driven to an absolute absurdity."

A vote resulted, the chair being sustained by sixteen to five.

A large number of witnesses appeared before the committee.

J. F. M. Stewart, a director of the Home Bank, concluded his testimony.

R. P. Gough, vice-president of the defunct bank, and S. Casey, Wood and another of its directors, were examined and told of their visit to Ottawa and Montreal in a last-minute attempt to save the institution.

Mr. Graham and Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Finance were also examined. Both of these ministers said that they had no recollection of discussing the condition of the bank with Mr. Murdock outside of cabinet, and evidence in regard to what took place in the council chamber was of course barred.

Mr. Robb admitted, however, that the representations of Mr. Stewart in regard to the condition of the bank were of sufficient importance to bring to the attention of his colleagues.

USE OF NAMES

The committee was informed agreement had been reached on an amendment to allow the non-concurring churches to form a denomination under any name other than that of one of the uniting churches. They might be organized as a Presbyterian, Methodist or a Congregational Church. This, however, was laid over, as was also another amendment providing for a vote on the written request of a specified minority. In a church of 100 members the minority must be at least 10; for 100 to 500, at least 25; for 500 to 1,000, at least 50, and over 1,000, at least 100.

In this connection Mr. Campbell raised the question whether a vote should be allowed to be circulated by mail or only at a meeting.

Mr. Mason objected to a ballot except at a meeting, on the ground that it might be "peddled around."

Dr. Murray McLaren objected to the phrase "peddled around" as reflecting on the two votes already taken under the authority of the Presbyterian General Assembly. Those votes had been taken in a manner condemned by Mr. Mason.

A number of non-concurring clauses of the bill were passed and the committee adjourned until Wednesday next.

CARRIED GREETINGS TO PRESBYTERIANS

Rev. Dr. Clarence McKinnon, of Pine Hill Theological Seminary, Halifax, N.S., was elected moderator of the General Assembly at last night's session.

It being recognized that this Assembly possibly be the last of its kind, every detail of the service familiar to most Presbyterian ministers was most carefully observed at the formal opening last night.

The introductory music and the hymns and scripture readings had been selected and arranged in accordance with the traditions of the church for many years and the entire service of worship and praise was a fine example of all that is best in Presbyterianism.

The auditorium was filled when the Rev. Dr. Gandier, retiring Moderator, delivered the annual sermon.

INSPECTION OF ALL BANKS BY FEDERAL OFFICIALS IS NEW PLAN

Ottawa, June 5.—Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, today laid before the Banking Committee of the House the proposed scheme of Government bank inspection. The high lights of the scheme are:

1. A general inspector of banks will be appointed by the Minister of Finance. The inspector may be removed by Order-in-Council for incapacity, misbehavior or incompetence. It will be the duty of the inspector to examine the head offices of all banks at least once a year and any branch that he may consider it necessary to examine. Confidential reports, now sent by the shareholders' auditors to the directors of a bank, will be available to the inspector.

2. The inspector will be given power to examine the general manager or the officials under oath.

3. Under the present Bank Act, if there is an indication that a bank is going wrong, there is no provision for closing it. It is now proposed that when the inspector is satisfied that a bank is insolvent, he is to report to the Minister of Finance, who may then, without waiting for the shareholders' payment, request the Bankers' Association to appoint a curator. This would automatically prevent the bank from accepting further deposits.

4. It is proposed that the banks shall be assessed on their assets for the cost of the inspection of the officials engaged under him.

An amendment was then adopted by agreement which defined "non-concurring congregations" but a proposal to insert a definition of "non-concurring members" was, at Mr. Mason's suggestion, laid over until after the preamble had been settled.

There was considerable debate over the definition of the roll of those entitled to vote on concurrence in the union. Gordon Wilson, Conservative, Wentworth, Ont., and Alfred Sora, Liberal, Skeena, B.C., urged that adherents be given a vote, but Mr. Mason said it could not be accepted, and that it was not in accordance with Presbyterian Church law. As agreed upon, the definition restricts the vote to members, except where provincial legislation provides for a vote by adherents, who have a right to vote under church law such as special acts of incorporation.

The committee was informed agreement had been reached on an amendment to allow the non-concurring churches to form a denomination under any name other than that of one of the uniting churches. In this connection Mr. Campbell raised the question whether a vote should be allowed to be circulated by mail or only at a meeting.

Mr. Mason objected to a ballot except at a meeting, on the ground that it might be "peddled around."

Dr. Murray McLaren objected to the phrase "peddled around" as reflecting on the two votes already taken under the authority of the Presbyterian General Assembly. Those votes had been taken in a manner condemned by Mr. Mason.

A number of non-concurring clauses of the bill were passed and the committee adjourned until Wednesday next.

CHURCH UNION

We thank God for our own church union movement, but brethren let it be real. Let us not be satisfied with any mere organization of three ecclesiastical units into one. Let us seek to make this union a coming together in faith and hope and love on personal preferences and outworn prejudices, and to hold nothing of value save as it can be made to serve the common ends of the Kingdom of God on earth.

It is a notable day in the history of Christendom when three great historic churches are prepared to give up pride and prejudice and to pour the full riches of their past history and their present experience into the common treasury of the United Church that all may be lifted to the feet of Jesus for the furtherance of that great redemption which He sanctified Himself. So new a new with bursts some of the Spirit of Jesus inevitably arouses opposition from many quarters and does not realize itself without difficulty.

It is at any cost these churches will be true to the heavenly vision. In so great an hour, need we wonder if the new we burst some of the old wide-awake and brings alarm to the timid? Some disintegration of the old there must be, but in and through it all the Spirit of Jesus at work in this new land is creating new and more adequate forms of church life and service.

revelations from the Spirit of Jesus.

There is no such thing as a fixed and final revelation, and no such thing as a fixed and final form of the Christian church. Jesus did once for all reveal God in human flesh, but the significance of our Lord's incarnation and sacrifice must ever be interpreted anew, and that is provided for in our doctrine of the Holy Spirit, who takes of the things of Christ and leads into all the needed truth for each age as it comes and each new situation as it arises.

"Freedom to follow where the Spirit leads is the birthright of the church, and any branch of the organized church which so desires it has the right to give up its old formulated creed or ancient polity has doomed itself to sterility and death without issue. Too long and too exclusively have Christians had the backward look, we need now the upward look and the forward look of Olivet and the Great Commission."

DECLARES CANADA NEEDS AWAKENING

General Booth, Salvation Army Head, Sails From Quebec For Britain

Quebec, June 5.—"In crossing Canada on my way back to England after a tour of Australia and New Zealand I find this country is in need of a great awakening and a far-reaching vision of its tremendous possibilities," said General Bramwell Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, in an interview aboard the liner Empress of Scotland of the Canadian Pacific fleet before she sailed yesterday afternoon for Cherbourg, Southampton and Hamburg.

"What Canada needs is a better understanding between all elements," he continued.

A curious fact about certain parts of the British Empire was that though there was more room than was required for all its peoples, the inhabitants were inclined to tread upon one another and there existed a certain amount of discord which there was no reason for, he said.

"Canada has land in unlimited quantities and a very bright future ahead of it, but land is worthless if not cultivated and converted into dollars," and the only way to do this is to procure more men for the country," he said.

The Salvation Army is at present doing its utmost to help in this connection by sending young immigrants to this country.

The general said young immigrants were the most desirable, as if they met with a reverse in their undertaking they would simply try again, whereas the middle-aged settlers, when disappointed, in the majority of cases gave up the fight and returned to their native land.

Hon. Charles A. Dunning, Premier of Saskatchewan, stated when found by a small army of newspaper men and photographers that the main reason for his going to England was to attend an Empire agricultural conference in London. He expects to be abroad for a month or six weeks. He would not voice any opinion on the liquor referendum which will be held in Saskatchewan in a couple of weeks.

Other notables who left on the liner Empress of Scotland were Col. W. G. Parker, V.C., D.S.O., M.C., of Ottawa, and family; Hon. R. W. Craig, Attorney-General of Manitoba, accompanied by Mrs. Craig and Miss J. Craig, his secretary; the Rt. Hon. the Countess of Portsmouth, Hurstbourne Park, England; Hon. M. C. McEl, Member, Hongkong, China, and many others. There were also a large number of travelers from Australia, New Zealand, Japan and China.

URGES VOTERS TO END CORRUPTION

Senator Wheeler Points U.S. People's Attention to Russia's Downfall

St. Louis, June 5.—Unless patriotic citizens have courage to stand against corruption by voting to repudiate dishonest government, the United States will go the way of Russia and other countries which have been torn by revolution, United States Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana, prosecutor for the Senate committee investigating former Attorney-General Daugherty, declared in an address here yesterday before the City Club.

"I have seen the suffering, the want and the starvation in Russia," Senator Wheeler said. "It followed the revolution which came there because men in high places in the Government did just the things Harry Daugherty did in this country."

Senator Wheeler asserted there was no politics in the investigation. He said it had only happened to be a Republican involved, and added he had undertaken a similar prosecution against Democrats while he was district attorney in Montana.

"Corruption," he said, "is the same no matter where it is."

"Harry Daugherty did not dare to come before the committee and be questioned about the whisky graft and the war profiteer graft," he said.

STATE OPPOSITION TO TARIFF CUTS

Report of Committee Read at Canadian Manufacturers' Association Convention

Abolition of Sales Tax Asked; Smuggling of Goods Discussed

Montreal, June 5.—The tariff reductions made by the Dominion Government in its 1924 budget are "the most serious and far-reaching in the history of Canada," states the report of the tariff committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, which was presented and discussed at the fifty-third annual convention here to-day.

Following the four previous tariff reductions of 1913-23, the committee believes this last and greatest general reduction injures the entire industrial system of Canada. It is stated that factories making articles on which the tariff has been lowered are being indirectly and adversely affected, because their sales will be diminished. It adds that serious as the 1924 reductions have been, "even more disturbing are the intimations that the attacks on protection will be continued and other great reductions may be expected in the future."

The report further states that the budget has introduced no safeguard for Canadian industry against unfair competition from those countries where currency has depreciated or against dumping of United States goods into Canadian markets.

SALES TAX. In regard to the sales tax, the attitude of the association is stated to be that it has never suggested or approved the new sales tax. The committee recommends that the association should ask for the abolition of this tax.

SMUGGLING OF GOODS. The report asserts the preventive staff of the Customs Department does not appear to have been able to cope with the flood of smuggling of goods into Canada, chiefly by automobile. The committee feels the Government should revise its whole campaign in dealing with these smugglers and in making a question which has got out of hand.

In the afternoon the report of the transportation committee was read. Discussion of this report was followed by amendments to the by-laws, the election of officers and committees and the adoption of resolutions.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS RECORD PROGRESS

Board Reports to General Assembly of Presbyterian Church in Canada

Owen Sound, Ont., June 5 (Canadian Press).—Very encouraging progress has been made in Sunday school work during the fifty-year history of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, according to the report of the Board of Sabbath Schools and Young People's Societies presented to the Presbyterian General Assembly here to-day. In 1875 there were reported 706 Sunday schools, with 1,123 officers and teachers and 9,204 scholars. To-day there are 4,008 Sunday schools, with 35,372 teachers and officers and 313,866 scholars. Fifty years ago there were no through-the-week organizations of any kind of young people. Ten years ago there was the beginning of a rapid development in this department which, however, was seriously set back by the war. There are today 757 organizations for young people, an increase of 230 per cent in the past six years; 1,090 for older boys, an increase of 300 per cent; 1,817 for older girls, an increase of 310 per cent, and 1,143 for young people, an increase of 150 per cent. The present total enrollment of all these organizations is about 100,000.

MEMORY COURSE. "The work among children under twelve years of age has also been strengthened in many ways," says the report. "One interesting feature was the issuing last year of a graded memory course for use both in the home and in the Sunday school. The popularity of this course is indicated in the fact that in less than a year more than 25,000 copies were sold. It is proving equally useful for children throughout Canada and in the foreign mission fields."

"Special attention has been given during the year to week-day religious education and very satisfactory progress has been made in many places both in the country and the cities. The following policy is recommended: (a) That we encourage Sunday school boards and teachers of our public schools to take full advantage of the provisions of the school law in their respective provinces in relation to religious instruction in the public schools."

"(b) That the plans for the week-day religious education under the auspices of local churches and close-by correlated to the work of the public school be commended to our ministers and other leaders as a valuable way of extending the work of our church in this department."

TRAINING LEADERS. "For the immediate future," says the report, "special attention will be given to leadership training, with the promotion of practical plans for training more volunteer and professional leaders. In this work colleges, universities and theological seminaries are heartily co-operating. A large number of Summer schools and training camps will be held during July and August in all the provinces in Canada. Most of these schools are for leaders. Some of them are also for older boys and some for older girls, who are the prospective leaders in the very near future. They combine in a very satisfactory way, inspiration, education and recreation and are proving most effective in securing trained leaders for the local churches."

THESE FIGURES

WE have got into an attitude in Canada in which we seem to consider the announcement of a thousand persons going to the United States as big news, whereas if a thousand more persons get jobs here at home we consider it of practically no importance.

Thus it is that very little prominence has been given to the latest returns from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at Ottawa which show that during the month of May 20,500 workers were added to the payrolls of the country, with the index number of employment rising to 91.8 compared with 89.3 in May, 1923; 83.3 in May, 1922; and 84.1 in May, 1921.

This improvement was divided about evenly among the Provinces of Canada except British Columbia, where the employment index was nearly 100 per cent.

Along with the facts on the improvement in employment there have been issued the statistics on Canada's foreign trade for the year ending with April. These figures show that exports to all countries exceeded those of two years ago by 43 per cent., and those of last year by nearly 10 per cent. Our exports to our largest customer, the United States, have grown in this way during the last three years:

1922	$285,112,000
1923	379,525,000
1924	429,265,000

Imports into Canada show an increase, but not as great as the percentage increase in exports. During the year ending April our imports were 21 per cent. greater than two years ago and 8 per cent. greater than last year.

The Financial Post of Toronto points out that for two years now prices in Canada have been stabilized. During the post-war boom abnormally active business became the rule and everyone formed the habit of expecting constantly increasing wages and profits. Now some people comparing the present with abnormal boom conditions make the error of concluding that business is not what it should be. Business has become stabilized at a new normal somewhere halfway between the old pre-war average and the war-time peak.

A man who is anything but bullish on Canada is distinctly on the wrong side of the trend.

OPPORTUNITY FOR BRITISH ENTERPRISE

THERE are no minerals which cannot be found in some part of the world under the British flag.

This fact was emphasized by Lord Long this week at the Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress in London called to discuss scientific, technical and economic problems connected with the mining resources of the Empire.

"Our mining resources are enormous," Lord Long said. "We have the mines and we have the men to develop them."

He might have added that British capital, however, is backward in getting its share of the proceeds of development in this country. Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines for Ontario, has been in London inviting the incursion of British capital and urging it to take a greater part in mining developments here. In the gold mining industry Mr. McCrea gave London these proportions of capital invested: Canadian, 70.27 per cent.; United States, 26.97 per cent.; but Great Britain only 2.62 per cent.

SOME LABOR MEN IN WRONG

THE labor leaders who have joined the millionaire party under the rich General McCrea are finding the going hard. Their alignment with interests directly opposed to the interests of labor has lost them the confidence of their old followers, and as they have done nothing to strengthen themselves with the average voter their outlook is not bright.

Some of them are explaining quietly to their old followers now that they are running under the Provincial banner simply to secure general support and that when they are elected they will swing back to their Simon-pure labor principles. This would create an interesting problem for the General if he were Premier. But as not one of these McCrea-Labor men appears to have the remotest chance of election, and as the prospects of the Provincial Party generally are just about as hopeful, that striking development is not likely to occur. The truth is that the labor men who have wandered into the McCrea camp have made a fatal mistake and now they know it.

In the last two elections labor men generally supported the Liberal Party and the Liberal Government in this Province has led the whole of Canada in advanced labor legislation. From the Liberal Government, and not from the McCrea party, led by men whose record is utterly hostile to labor, the labor men of British Columbia can expect most in the future.

SCHOOL RESPONSIBILITY

Erasmus once said to Sappho, a well-known Greek schoolmaster: "To be a schoolmaster is next to being a king. In the opinion of fools it is a humble task, but in fact it is the noblest of occupations."

HONESTY IN POLITICS

CONCLUDING IN The Quarterly Review his gossip account of "The Personality of Lord Morley," Mr. J. H. Morgan has several pages on the general question of public and private morals.

The epithet "Honest John," long fastened upon Morley, was not of his own choice, and he sometimes resented it. He would have been the last to lay claim to moral superiority over his fellows in public life. On crucial questions, he would stand immovably for what he believed to be right, as against the merely expedient, even if it cost him his seat in the House of Commons. But he never subscribed to extreme ethical tests for politicians. Mr. Birrell once asked him if he ever knew of a Cabinet meeting where "any one discussed a political question as a Christian." To this Morley replied most emphatically, "No; not even Mr. Gladstone."

Mr. Morley recorded in his diary a conversation that once took place following an assertion that Machiavelli was "the first person to perceive that 'public morality and private morality are two different things.'"

Lord Morley—Well, but so they are. Let us ask Haldane. Haldane, are public morality and private morality two different things?

Lord Haldane—Well, they should approximate.

Lord Morley—Did they approximate in Disraeli?

Mr. Morgan—He hadn't the honesty of Mr. Gladstone.

Lord Morley—Well, but was Mr. G. always honest?

This is a hard question. Probably what Morley had in mind was the Gladstonian fondness for intricate reasoning and involving statement which to his enemies sounded like casuistry. In January, 1913, Morley discussed the Cabinet difficulties into which Mr. Asquith had got himself over the suffrage question and said: "Mr. G. would never have given an undertaking in which he could not discover, if need be, some ambiguity which permitted an escape."

These matters, in the opinion of The New York Times, are the failings or foibles of great men. Morley would have condemned them uncompromisingly at the same time when he wrote his "Essay on Compromise," but that was long before he himself entered politics. Once in that world he did not think of applying to it the inflexible moral tests where he came to believe that they did not belong.

ON THE PLATFORM AND OFF THE PLATFORM

IT has remained for Saanich to produce the choicest bit of inconsistency yet displayed by some incipient politicians.

Hon. T. G. Coventry, as a politician, attacks the Oliver Government on the score that conditions in British Columbia are such that outside capital will not come here to invest.

But Hon. Mr. Coventry, as a race-track man, advises his relatives in England to send $200,000 to British Columbia for a good investment in a racing plant which is now almost completed at Colwood.

Which are we to believe—Hon. Mr. Coventry on the platform talking for votes, or Hon. Mr. Coventry off the platform handling the family's real dollars and cents?

U.S. policy seems to be ships that touch liquor shall never touch land.

Conservative sixteen-piece platform in general terms promises about everything. It might have been made complete by adding a bobbed-hair plank.

Women's ways are still attracting attention in the South. So much so that the San Francisco Chronicle exclaims that you can't tell about Lot's wife; perhaps she passed a woman wearing a hat just like hers.

Premier Mackenzie King's Liberal Government won by a majority of ninety-nine in a House of Commons vote yesterday on its tariff policy. It's about time for Dr. Tolmie to write another of his special Ottawa dispatches announcing that the Government is crumbling and losing all its support.

A Colonist story says the whole Liquor Control Board organization may be moved to Vancouver if Lower Mainland Liberal bloc is powerful enough to effect it. The Oliver Government established the Liquor Board headquarters here. The best way Victoria can counteract the acquisitive Vancouver campaign will be to return representatives who will have most influence in Government circles. Such representatives are the four Liberal candidates in this city. Even The Daily Colonist admits that with the Government forces united and the Opposition split in two warring factions neither Conservatives nor Provincials have a chance of winning out in the Province.

LEGEND

Stories told of Ithaca
And stories told of Troy
Stories told of sad folk
And stories told of joy
All these stories do I know,
But one know nothing of
And that's the story once I told
To my first love
Ah, what a well of faith was there
And what a way I had,
And how I'd like to talk to him,
That wild young lad
Now I'd like to hear his lies
And watch his face and see
The trouble in his eyes and try
Never to be me

Dr. Frank Crane on
"The Call of the Blood"

(Copyright)

HE did not like music, nor art, nor books. He read slowly and with difficulty.

His wife was fond of all these things, but he had no interest in the house except to oil his boots and look over his fishing tackle.

So, when the Spring came, with it came a great uneasiness, a desire to be away somewhere in the vast distances and in the wild woods.

For he loved all the living things that crept and scurried and flew in the wild outdoors. He could tell one kind of insect from another; he knew if a bird lived on the fruit of the land or on vermin; he knew hickory from oak, and the best fishing places where the bass lie and the pools where the trout jump.

He longed to be away, and when he had fixed his boots and rough jacket and put them on, he went away whistling to the north woods happy at what was before him and no less glad for what was behind him.

Before him were the air places behind him the crowded streets and families, one upon another, in apartment houses.

He loved his kind but as the Indian loved his kind: the sort of man you can keep still with and sit all evening by a fire in the open and smoke tobacco that you have cut out of a plug. He scorned tobacco that came made in packages. He scorned cigars and other pieces of tobacco that you smoke in other places than in a pipe or in a cigarette you roll yourself. Two sucks of the latter were worth more than forty otherwise.

He valued tobacco merely as the scent of humankind. A man should smell of tobacco just as a woman should smell not at all or of soap.

He liked cooking, but it was beans and so-belly that he cooked for himself over the open fire. He scorned fancy food.

He liked cleanliness but the cleanliness of the open, bathing in water where you had to brush the ice from the surface and rubbing down with a coarse towel, not the cleanliness of the bathroom.

So he went away whistling into the north woods. He had not spoken much in the city. He was going where they did not speak much at all.

He went away to the north woods because they called him by a thousand tongues we could not hear. He left the city because it repelled him in a thousand ways we could not feel.

How Canadians Won at Stoney Creek

AT the end of May, 1813, the United States Army was concentrated at Fort Niagara, at the mouth of the Niagara River.

To the number of six thousand, strongly aided by the fleet under Commodore Chauncey, landed on the Canadian shore opposite and, after a bloody battle, defeated the British, outnumbered four to one, and captured Fort George. The little British force of about a thousand, under General Vincent, retreated to Beaver Dams near the present Thorold, a dozen miles or so inland, where it was joined by the small detachments from Fort Erie and Chippewa, whose positions had become untenable with the fall of Fort George. The retreat was continued toward Burlington Heights, where now is the city of Hamilton, then a village a year or so old. The British, about two thousand strong, were camped on Burlington Heights. The Americans had advanced halfway from Fort George and halted for reinforcements which came up in the first week in June under General Chandler. The whole now numbered about seven thousand.

band, and moved forward to Stoney Creek, only six miles from the British camp, driving in a few weak pickets on the way. A rumor had reached the American General, Dearborn, at Fort George, that British reinforcements were coming to General Vincent from the western frontier of the Detroit River, and he was anxious that the British camp on Burlington Heights should be broken up before a junction could take place. The pursuing American officers and men were enthusiastic for this and very confident of success.

It was June 5, 1813, when the American force arrived at Stoney Creek. That afternoon Lieut. Colonel Harvey, adjutant general to General Vincent, reconnoitred, and evolved a plan for night attack on the American position. General Vincent concurred in his scheme and gave him charge of the operation. Seven hundred and fifty men were picked and that night, in the blackest darkness some time before midnight, moved stealthily against the American line. General Vincent went alone, but left the actual direction to Colonel Harvey.

The first rush resulted in confusion on both sides, for some of Harvey's men opened fire too soon and thus gave warning to the American camp. Colonel Harvey hastened to reform his men in the dark, and was covered in this by Major Plenderleath's brilliant onslaught, which broke up the American centre and then finished off by scattering the artillery detachment at the point of the bayonet. The inland wing of the American army was furiously attacked by Major Ogden, who led to a disorderly flight. This was the final and deciding stroke. From this time on the American army was a demoralized mob and rushed pell-mell eastward through the rough, primitive country until the dawn broke to show them they were not pursued.

The victory was material and morally complete. Lest the Americans should find out in the light how few their assailants had been, Colonel Harvey led back his troops into camp, and with them a large assortment of prisoners, including both American generals, seven other officers and one hundred and sixteen of other ranks. He took along, also, two heavy American field-pieces drawn by their own horses. The American casualties were seventeen killed and thirty-eight wounded. The British lost twenty-three killed, thirty-six wounded and fifty missing. The wounded included the leaders of the two decisive attacks, Majors Plenderleath and Ogden.

This brilliant achievement of the British at Stoney Creek altered the course of the war. It broke the American invasion of the Niagara Peninsula. A contributory circumstance, of course, was the chasing of the American fleet into their lair at Sackett's Harbor by Sir James Yeo at the head of the British fleet. The Americans, still greedy to outnumber the British troops in the district, after burning their camp and stores, retreated in such precipitate haste that they left their dead and their wounded lying unattended. The British occupied their camp in time to salvage great quantities of commissariat supplies and ammunition. Some miles to the eastward the Americans halted to reform at Forty-Mile Creek and were reinforced with four hundred men, bringing their total to about three thousand seven hundred. Here, however, they were disturbed by the British fleet under Sir James Yeo, and, caught between two fires, they retreated to the neighborhood of Fort George.

Narcotic Inquiry.
Papers Are Tabled
In the Commons

Ottawa, June 5.—Correspondence between Ottawa and Victoria and between officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police dealing with charges made against members of the mounted police squad of the Mounted Police and preliminary to the investigation held in Victoria and Vancouver last December by the Royal Commission, was filed in the House yesterday afternoon on an order for a return.

It shows that the Federal Department of Justice repeatedly asked Hon. A. M. Manson, Attorney-General of British Columbia, to postpone hearing of the charges against Eccles, Fernandez, Smith and Mundy until a Royal Commission could inquire into the whole conduct of the Mounted Police "dope" squad.

Mr. Manson disapproved of the choice of counsel for the prosecution, asking that G. L. Harrison, Victoria, who had handled the charges in the police court, should be appointed, and not E. P. Davis, K.C., of Vancouver.

The Mounted Police command in British Columbia also favored the appointment of Mr. Harrison.

For two days telegrams flashed back and forth between the two departments and also between Commissioner C. Starnes, head of the "mounties" here, and T. A. Wroughton, head of the division in British Columbia, in an effort to prevent the cases coming before a magistrate.

The ground taken here was that the nature of the charges called for a wider inquiry than could be conducted before a magistrate.

a certain Wednesday and no Royal Commission could be appointed. On the next day, the men had been arraigned in Victoria, and three of them sentenced to severe penalties, convicted of irregular practices in the enforcement of the Narcotic Drugs Act.

Commissioner Wroughton's telegram announcing this said that only under "extraordinary pressure" had the provincial authorities been persuaded to grant bail.

Subsequent inquiry under Commissioner J. P. Smith, K.C., absolved these detectives of irregular behavior and a pardon was granted from Ottawa.

The last telegram in the file is from the Department of Justice refusing to pay fees of counsel appointed by the provincial authorities.

MISS E. MACKIE TESTIFIES IN THE MARY LYON CASE

Evidence Given Supports Claim of Aberdeen Store Clerk

Edinburgh, June 5 (Canadian Press cable).—Evidence in support of the petition of Constance Mary Lyon, nineteen-year-old Aberdeen store clerk, to establish her claim that she is the eldest lawful child of Hubert Bowes-Lyon, nephew of the Earl of Strathmore, was given yesterday by Miss E. Mackie, a resident of Glasgow, before a court with Lord Morrison presiding. Miss Mackie had refused to give evidence when the case opened last week and a warrant was issued to secure her attendance. Miss Mackie said she formerly lived in Edinburgh and lodged with Miss Smeaton, mother of Mary Lyon. She remembered Hubert Bowes-Lyon meeting Miss Smeaton in 1904 at a dance. They were friendly. Bowes-Lyon was then an officer in the Black Watch stationed at Edinburgh Castle. Within a few weeks, Bowes-Lyon, witness said, rented and furnished a house in Edinburgh and he and Miss Smeaton lived there. Subsequently Bowes-Lyon resigned his commission and went to London, where Miss Smeaton joined him. Subsequently witness heard of the birth of a child which had occurred on December 24, 1904. Miss Smeaton wrote to the witness expressing her distress and asking Miss Mackie how she could dispose of the child, and in response to this appeal Miss Mackie testified, she wrote to a Mrs. Colles of Aberdeen, who undertook to receive the child and care for it. Miss Smeaton brought the child to Edinburgh in the beginning of 1905. She told Miss Mackie on meeting her that she had been married to Bowes-

PRETTY WEDDING AT COLWOOD

"Queen of Agriculture" is Married to Mr. Frank Hughes

Colwood was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday, when Mary Agnes, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Murray, of Colwood, became the bride of Frank Hughes of Bamerton, eldest son of Samuel Hughes.

The ceremony was performed at St. John's Church, Colwood, which had been prettily decorated by friends of the bride, by the Rev. H. A. Pearson, vicar of the parish. The bride, in the unavoidable absence of her father, was given away in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Andrew Murray, and looked very charming in white silk crepe de Chine, with a beautiful beaded overdress, carrying a bouquet of roses, lilies of the valley and white heather, and was attended by her sister, Jean Murray, prettily attired in pale pink silk crepe de Chine, with a large white hat. The groom wore a tuxedo and carried a bouquet of pale pink carnations and roses with maidenhair fern.

The bride's father, who was present in person, was the guest of honor. The bridegroom was supported by his brother, Rex Hughes, also of Bamerton.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Colwood Hall, where the many guests were received by the mother of the bride assisted by the Women's Institute, and here beneath a huge white wedding bell the bride and groom stood to receive the congratulations and good wishes of their many friends. The bridegroom's gifts were: To the bride, a handsome white gold wrist watch; to the bridesmaid and flower girl, a string of pearls; to the best man, a set of gold cuff links. The bride's gift to the groom took the form of a gold watch chain. The happy couple were the recipients of many beautiful and useful wedding presents.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes left on the night boat for Vancouver, from whence they will travel to the prairies, returning from their honeymoon in Egypt, where they will make their future home.

DANCE CRAZE SAID TO BE ON WANE

Eastern Paper Predicts That Drinking Will Die With It

Halifax, N. S., June 5.—(Canadian Press).—The dance craze is dying in its birthplace—Broadway. It shares a United States newspaper and in an article of some length proves the statement, pointing out that "Like any other fever it waxed to heights of delirium and then began to wane. It is waning so rapidly that it has virtually vanished—has petered out for lack of material on which to feed."

What is true of New York is true of Halifax, says the Mail, and every large dance proves it anew. In fact one Halifaxian even goes so far as to declare that the drink habit would be reduced by the lack of being intrigued by the girl who likes an occasional 'nip' now calculate it as an added expense to 'rushing' her. It costs them enough for the extra cigarettes without the drinks as well. Carrying your own flask has lost its excitement too.

The waltz is back and the merry step which was at its height in 1914 has also come back as strong as ever, the Mail continues. It is difficult to believe that in those days at every Dalhousie University dance a sign was conspicuously displayed bearing the warning: "No One-Step-pling or Fox-Trotting Permitted."

Dancers have gone a long way since then and the one-step looks like a modest little step compared with some of the dances that have been in vogue during the past few years. A dancer who danced the "Maxixe" at a Dalhousie dance in 1914 was not only by the members of the Products Bureau to consider the advisability of repeating this tour. It is an honor of which the members of the Institutes are fully cognizant that it has been a member of the men's institutes who has not only been chosen, but has so successfully "carried the message to Garcia."

CHOIR BANQUET
The Congregational Church was the scene of a happy gathering last night when the members of the choir and their friends assembled for a banquet, which it is hoped will become an annual event. Short talks along the lines of choir work were made by Mrs. McCoy Jameson, Mrs. C. H. Walker, Messrs. F. L. Turpin, E. J. C. Smith, R. J. C. Smith, F. Angus, H. I. Curtis, H. Masters, J. Wiseman, J. W. Buckler and Rev. A. K. McMillin.

During the evening a presentation was made to Mrs. W. H. Osard in appreciation of the hard work she has done as president of the choir.

Mrs. W. D. Todd Speaking Throughout Province on "Buy B.C. Goods"

Mrs. W. D. Todd has left for a four-weeks' itinerary of the Women's Institute and other Associations in the interests of the Buy B.C. Products Campaign. It is at the special request of Granby, Parksville and Cedar Women's Institutes on Vancouver Island that Mrs. Todd is addressing their members on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of this week, after which she will take in Aldergrove, in the Lower Mainland, where a mass meeting will be held, composed of members and residents from adjoining institutes and districts, Burrigton, and Upper Sumas.

Mrs. Todd, while on the Mainland, will attend the Grand Lodge of the Rebecca Assembly in Vancouver, representing Colfax Lodge, Victoria, and will also attend the Grand Council of Canadian Daughters in Vancouver, representing the Victoria League. Following this, she will address a number of meetings, and starting out just about a year ago to carry the message "Preference where quality and price are equal to B. C. Products of the home or factory," Mrs. Todd has visited most of the institutes on Vancouver Island, the Okanagan, and the Kootenay and a number on the Lower Mainland. The Lower Mainland has by far the largest number of institutes of the four districts in the Province.

The results were so gratifying that Mrs. Todd has been approached not only by the institutes as stated, but by the members of the Products Bureau to consider the advisability of repeating this tour. It is an honor of which the members of the Institutes are fully cognizant that it has been a member of the men's institutes who has not only been chosen, but has so successfully "carried the message to Garcia."

Rev. Canon Cody On Patriotism
Toronto, June 5.—Censuring those whom he termed advocates of "that type of tepid humanitarianism, which cares equally for all because it does not care profoundly for any," Rev. Canon Cody, of Toronto, last night, in addressing the members of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, said: "I do not think we should be ashamed of the virtues of patriotism."

"Patriotism may be proper or improper," he continued, "but Christian patriotism will never despise or disdain another country just because it is another country."

"That little island over the sea," which was the mother of the present mighty family of dominions, he spoke of as the mother of the virtues of patriotism.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. J. S. H. Matson of Victoria, Mrs. S. Ryall and Mrs. Bannister of Nanaimo, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dry, Mrs. D. B. Groves from Westholme, Mrs. B. Hill of Ladysmith, Mrs. W. Gravelly and Miss Ellen Gravelly and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nicholson all of Vancouver.

Miss Rivett-Carnac Is Pretty Bride

Wedding Took Place at Chemainus

Special to The Times
Chemainus, June 5.—A very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday morning at the Church of St. Michael and All Angels, where Miss Rivett-Carnac became the bride of Mr. N. B. Scott. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. Eton, minister of the church. The bride was decorated with pink roses and other flowers. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Mr. E. Elliot, the bride made a lovely picture as she entered the church on the arm of her father. Her wedding gown was of bridal satin simply made with a girle of silver ribbon entwined with small cut glass ornaments. The train, of silk Brussels net was kept in place by two small clusters of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of pink and cream roses and ferns. Miss Hazel Cathcart as maid of honor looked charming in a dainty frock of mauve voile and cream lace, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of roses and freesias, while the bridesmaids, Miss Betty Stratfield and Miss Vivian Matson made a pretty picture in very dainty dresses of mauve and blue with the cream lace dresses giving them a charming bouffant style. They carried bouquets of roses, snapdragons and freesias. The groom was supported by Mr. Guy Pole-Hampton of Vancouver, and the ushers were Lieut. Colin Donald and Mr. Douglas Ross. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where about 100 guests were received by Mrs. Rivett-Carnac, who was handsomely gowned in a mauve Moroccan costume threaded with gold and becoming hat to match. Many magnificent gifts were received by the young couple. Later Mr. and Mrs. Scott left for Vancouver, where the honeymoon will be spent, the bride traveling in a smart tailleur of tan armour cloth and close-fitting hat to match.

Among the out-of-town guests were: Mrs. J. S. H. Matson of Victoria, Mrs. S. Ryall and Mrs. Bannister of Nanaimo, Mr. and Mrs. W. Dry, Mrs. D. B. Groves from Westholme, Mrs. B. Hill of Ladysmith, Mrs. W. Gravelly and Miss Ellen Gravelly and Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nicholson all of Vancouver.

GOVERNOR LEAVES U.K. ON JUNE 21

Pursers Are Appointed to Harrison-Direct Liners in Pacific-U.K. Service

Ritner Consolidated Limited received word this morning that the Harrison-Direct liner Governor would leave Glasgow and Liverpool this month and sail from the latter port for Victoria and Vancouver on June 21. She is scheduled to arrive here about July 30.

The Benefactor and all vessels following her from the Old Country will be provided with a purser from now on. The Benefactor has a purser this trip and the Governor, the next vessel to leave the Old Country for this port, will also be provided with a purser. Up till now the officers have been doing the work of the pursers but increased cargo offerings by these vessels to the Old Country via the Panama Canal led the company to appoint a purser to each of these ships.

It was reported this morning that the Benefactor made San Pedro today on schedule but that owing to the amount of cargo to be discharged there would not arrive here until June 18, one day later than expected. The bills of lading have arrived and shows approximately 300 tons of cargo for discharge here.

SHIDZUOKA MARU WILL MAKE PORT NEXT WEDNESDAY

Ninety-Eight Passengers on Board, and 100 Tons of Cargo For Victoria

Following quickly in the wake of the Hakata Maru the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Shidzuoka Maru is reported due here June 10, according to information received this morning by A. H. Hebb, local representative of the line.

Cable advice says that the vessel left Yokohama on May 25 with ninety-eight passengers on board. There are thirty-two first class, eight intermediate and fifty-eight steerage. Of this number twenty-eight, first class, eight intermediate and thirty-two steerage will proceed to Seattle, while four first class, twenty-three Japanese steerage and one Chinese steamer passenger will disembark here. Cargo consignments for Victoria amount to approximately 100 tons.

The Kaga Maru, of the same line, reached Kobe last Sunday, the cable state. The Kaga is making a quick turn around in the Orient and terminates her trip at Kobe. She is already loading for the return trip so as to arrive here before the Japanese exclusion bill becomes effective.

Tenders Called For Fort Hardy $20,000 Wharf

Tenders are being called for the construction of the new $20,000 Port Hardy Government wharf. It was announced this morning that tenders would be received by the Department of Public Works at Ottawa up to noon July 23.

Plans and specifications of the new dock can be seen at the District Engineer's office in the Old Post Office Building. The dock is to be almost 600 feet long and will have a commodious warehouse.

Work has been started on the remaining sections of road to be completed on the nine-mile highway from Coal Harbor to Port Hardy. This road leads right to the dock, and will be a valuable development to the northern part of Vancouver Island.

PLANS FOR FLEET RECEPTION ARE ASSUMING SHAPE

Many Offers Entertained by Committee at Meeting Last Night

Urgent need of warmer public support was emphasized at a meeting of the executive of the entertainment committee to the British Special Service Squadron in the Metropolitan Building last night. The committee received progress reports from sub-committees, entertained offers of new proposals, and generally covered a wide field of business in connection with the affair.

The question of free transportation for men of the fleet on B.C. Electric lines was under advisement by the heads of that company, it was stated. Efforts will be made to induce the Government to aid further the entire project.

Canvassing, it was decided, should continue through a special committee appointed to interview leading men and organizations of the city, and additionally by P. A. Rayner, who will give full time to the project. The special committee is headed by David Spencer, A. B. Wolfenden, J. S. H. Matson and E. B. Pemberton and is a representative influential body.

The decoration committee reported police refused by three provinces and six cities to help in the reception of the fleet. This placed the local programme strictly up to the community and further support would have to be forthcoming. It was urged. The sum of $10,000 could be counted on, reported W. H. Langley, who urged that as great a proportion of this amount as possible be collected in general subscriptions.

SALES TAX CUTS DEBATED BY M.P.'S

Ottawa, June 5.—In the Commons last evening a second reading was given to the bill amending the Special War Revenue Act, 1915, and the House went into committee on it. This bill is to give effect to the charges in the sales tax.

Sir Henry Drayton asked if the Minister was in a position to give the House a statement of those in charges in the sales tax.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Acting Minister of Finance, replied that it was difficult to obtain this information.

Hon. J. Bureau stated there were arrears not only in the sales tax, but in the tax on soft drinks. The department had found that if it insisted upon payment of the tax, in some cases it meant that the company concerned would go to the wall. Therefore the officials had been lenient. The sales tax, he said, was difficult of collection, but it was equitable.

After some further discussion the committee reported progress and the House rose.

"I have used Aristo Motor Oil Medium in my 1918 Model Franklin car for a year and a half under many different road and weather conditions around Southern California and wish to state that it has been satisfactory in every way. In that time I have had no carbon trouble and the oil holds up in good shape."

Miles Without "Carbon"

FROM time to time, we print testimonial letters from users of Aristo Motor Oil.

They tell of long-time running without "carbon" troubles,—12,000,—25,000,—50,000 miles.

What It Saves

All motor oils deposit a carbonaceous residue in motors.

Some of this "carbon" is hard and flinty. It has a tendency to cling.

It causes power leaks through badly seated valves. It is an abrasive, a danger to cylinders and pistons. It coats spark plugs and short-circuits them so they miss.

It becomes incandescent, causing pre-ignition, which means "knocking."

This Is Soft, Fluffy

But the residue from Aristo Motor Oil is so soft and fluffy that most of it blows out with the exhaust. It seldom ever even discolors a spark plug.

The motor stays cleaner, runs thousands of extra miles without "carbon" removal.

This kind of residue is softer than the metals in a motor, so cannot scratch them.

Records of from 12,000 to 50,000 miles without "carbon" or wear of any kind indicate a motor oil of high lubricating quality, plus a saving of time and expense in motor operation that every motorist will be glad to effect.

Motorists everywhere are making these mileage records with Aristo Motor Oil. See what your car can do.

All first class garages and service stations can supply it.

The time used is Pacific standard for the 120th meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures in the table show the tide rises or falls compared with two successive tidal periods without turning.

Height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lower low water.

Equivalents.—To find the depth of water on the sill of the dry dock at any tide, add 18.5 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Men in uniform will be guests, and ensured free accommodation at the meet.

The Consolidated Motor Limited offered the committee a six-cylinder Oldsmobile car for raffling in connection with a ticket sale for a ball to be held while the fleet is here. The company undertook to dispose of the tickets and turn over receipts to the committee, taking in turn the price of the car, $1,350, less a $50 donation to the fund. Commission on tickets sale would go to those Hugh Allan, H. Edgecombe and Ernest Miller also took the platform. Mr. Edgecombe, a fruitgrower from Peachland, claimed that Premier John Oliver was not the originator of the freight rates fight, nor was he responsible for the success of the controversy.

The speakers were well received, generally, and the meeting was quiet.

FIFTY-EIGHT CARS AT TOURIST CAMP

Parties Are Coming to Victoria Earlier This Summer

Since the opening May 1, fifty-eight automobile parties have registered at the auto camp at Curtis Point and ten different bands of holiday makers all apparently enjoying to the full the ideal surroundings and perfect weather are staying by the Gorge waters taking advantage of the convenience of the auto camp. Camped in the shade of the towering trees and bringing with them the latest in camping beds and folding camp furniture the visitors come from California, Washington and Idaho. There is also a party from Toronto who drove all the way through to Victoria. Interviewed by members of the Tourist Trade Group to-day they stated that they would probably settle permanently in Victoria.

Effective work is being done by the Publicity Bureau agents in Seattle and Portland, talks with the campers showed. Two of the parties from Seattle at present at the camp stated that they came on the advice of Harold Palmer, who recently went to Seattle for the bureau. One of two from Portland who have visited the camp bore introductions from F. W. Tuffrey at Portland. The car year has been added to by the installation of the small portable camp stoves. Some of the campers bring their little stoves, the fuel for which comes from the gasoline tank of the cars. The new stoves placed there this summer, however, are in big demand around meal times and with happy comradeship three or four parties busily prepare their appetizing repasts in the same great open air kitchen. The big boiler, the new shower baths and the sandy shelving beach are other features which have added to the attractiveness of the camp.

Berry Pickers Urgently Wanted

Gordon Head and Keating-Fruit-growers Associations are requiring a large number of strawberry pickers. In past years quite a large proportion of the picking has been carried on by school or college girls, and their teachers. This year the girls will not be available until too late. Attention is drawn to the display advertisement and classified help wanted advertisements running in this issue.

The monthly meeting of the Lake Hill Community Centre will be held in the Community Hall, Quadra Street, at 8.15 o'clock on Saturday, June 7. Reports of the May Queen contest committee, the question of proceeding with the building and other interesting business will be brought before the meeting.

CANADIAN PRESS IS LINK OF EMPIRE

E. Norman Smith, President, Addresses Canadian Club of Vancouver

Vancouver, June 5.—There is a similarity between the ambitions of the founders and members of the Canadian Club and the founders and members of the Canadian Press, the co-operative, non-profit making news gathering association of the daily newspapers of Canada, declared E. Norman Smith, president of the Canadian Press, at a Canadian Club luncheon here to-day.

It is doubtful, he continued, was a national organization aiming to cultivate national spirit, national ideals and national unity and to keep warm an affectionate connection between Canada and the British Empire. Much in this direction had been achieved by bringing together the Canadian Press and the Canadian Club, giving them opportunity to learn of and about each other, by building a bridge of hearts across the natural geographical divide.

"All this," the speaker said, "I want to try to show you, of which I am proud, is also, if in a rather different manner, the bridge in this case is a bridge of wire—a bridge that looks flimsy but one whose strength has already been tested and whose surprising results bridge which throbs electrically with the heart beats of the people of the East and the people of the West."

CUISINE CALLS TO BELFRY BELLE

Fugitive Simian Seeks Sustenance in Palace Kitchen, And is Captured

Maggie, Simian belle from the Island of Java, sounded the depths of her short career of high life yesterday when a buccinated officer of the law arrested her in the kitchen at the Bishop's Palace, St. Andrew's Cathedral, and called for the patrol.

Maggie, one of two Javanese monkeys escaping on Sunday, June 1, from the Bird and Pet Store, Yates Street, spent two days in the belfry of the cathedral and yesterday sought something more sustaining than the bird's-eye view.

It was about 7 o'clock last night that Maggie, in the course of her wanderings after food, discovered the Bishop's kitchen. The discovery was made by the money almost simultaneously with that by domestics of the presence of the uninvited guest.

A warm chase ensued in which police aid was eventually sought. Taken in the nuptial to headquarter, Maggie, who was in the course of her wanderings after food, discovered the Bishop's kitchen. The discovery was made by the money almost simultaneously with that by domestics of the presence of the uninvited guest.

To-day in the city detective office a complete record of the classification and identity of the Javanese belle, compiled from finger prints that resemble in size that of a one-year-old human being. Maggie was "mugged," because daylight had fled, and there were no flashlight powders on hand to complete the work.

To the monkey's credit it is stated that the finger print cards are for identification purposes only, and in the event of her wandering restless spirit leading her further afield on the next outing.

ROTARY AIDS PLAN TO STIMULATE ALL B.C.'S INDUSTRIES

Buy Home Products, Says E. Halsall, and Help Manufacturers

A resolution was adopted at the meeting of the Rotary Club to-day, to support in every way possible the B. C. Products Week, which is now being recognized throughout the province. Ernest Halsall gave a brief address upon this subject.

The cities and towns of the entire country, he said, were working hand in hand to make the home products week a success.

The number of men employed in B. C. manufacturing plants, said the speaker, totaled 48,000, while there were 2,673 registered plants, with a total of $24,422,459 invested therein. Over $60,000,000 was paid out to these workers annually by the operators of the plants and the value of goods manufactured amounted to $250,000,000. Goods to the value of $50,000,000 were imported into the province during the year, he continued, which might have been bought within the boundaries of British Columbia, and he pointed out what the difference would have been had these purchases been made here.

Samuel Drake seconded the motion, saying in this connection that the fruit and vegetables imported to this country works a hardship in an endless chain, for the urban and rural districts were dependent upon one another for success. The value of the B. C. Products Week was made obvious by this speaker, and the resolution was carried by a unanimous vote.

The Rotarian On-to-Toronto delegates will arrive in this city on Sunday.

Members who were late for the luncheon were punished by the president, and made to sit on an uncovered table, where they ate their meal from tin plates, cups without handles, and various other inconveniences. The names of the offenders were given out officially as follows: P. Schmeck, William Lemm, W. N. Kelly, Herbert Penderay, F. Lockwood, D. Evans, Jack Kellam and Thomas McConnell.

POLITICS

Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M.P. for Victoria, reached here late yesterday to take charge of the Conservative campaign on the Island. In answer to Premier Oliver's statement that he should remain in Ottawa at this time to attend to his seasonal duties, Dr. Tolmie retorted that the Oliver government was bringing out members of the Dominion Cabinet to assist in its election fight.

"That is sufficient answer to that kind of talk," said the Doctor, adding that he had arranged to have his work done for him in Ottawa during his absence.

H. Despard Twist assailed the Government for extravagance. "Is the Government or any member of it repentant?" he demanded. "No. Do they say they are going to be economical? No. They aren't. If they said that they would be admitting that they have been extravagant."

Ottawa, June 5.—Officials of the Public Works Department stated to-day they had not heard of any definite decision to provide in this session's estimates for construction of a terminal grain elevator at Prince Rupert.

The Minister of Public Works was not accessible and so comment on the announcement of the British Columbia Government as contained in a Prince Rupert dispatch yesterday was not forthcoming.

Ray Schalk Says Modern Catcher Must Learn To Outguess Other Side on Hit-and-Run Play

Styles in catching shift with almost as great rapidity as they do in wearing apparel.

Methods that produced results fifteen years back, with pitchers' batters all the vogue, wouldn't be very practical in these days of the lively ball and home-run sluggers.

Don't alibi, would be the first suggestion I would offer any catcher who aspires to become a big league. Accept the breaks of the game as they come.

When you feel that you are right, fight for your point. When you have erred, do not seek to place the blame on a team-mate or the umpire by offering an alibi that you hope will cover up your mistake.

Every big league catcher makes mistakes. No one is infallible. The thing to do is have the courage of your convictions, call for the style pitch that you believe will be most effective and then stand or fall on your judgment.

A catcher should always have a knowledge of the strength and weakness of the opposing players. In a league organization this is made possible by careful study of each batter.

Once a catcher gains a knowledge of the opposing batters, it is up to him to use such information to the best possible advantage.

When I broke into the American League, base running was one of the most important features of play. Breaking up of the steal of base was a play that always loomed up in front of the catcher when a batsman reached first base.

Playing for a run was then the system, a base hit invariably scored the runner from second. A strong accurate arm was most essential. I never had a strong arm but usually was very accurate. I tried to make up for my lack of stuff on the ball by getting it away quickly, also by calling for a pitchout when I believed a runner was going.

Things have changed now. A catcher need no longer worry about the base stealer. His big job is trying to keep the batter from hitting the ball safe, and calling the play in advance when the hit and run is about to be pulled.

Protect your signals. Never let the opposition get wise to your method of signaling to the pitcher.

Keep in mind your infield and outfield and see they are playing properly. Otherwise the catcher must be pulled. Often the moving of a few feet on the part of an outfielder makes a big difference in the play. Some put it on when the second ball is delivered. Knowledge of such facts help. Otherwise the catcher must do up the situation and play his hunch.

Two features of play overlooked by most catchers is the handling of bunts in front of the plate and the catching of foul flies. I practice constantly on both.

Tenney in her suit against Kearns for $100,000 damages, are categorically denied in an answer filed in the Superior Court today. The answer brands Mrs. Tenney's charges that Kearns attacked her after playing her with narcotics as a fabrication framed to extort money from him.

C.P.R. Trounced Feathered Tribe In Close Battle

Railroaders Given Hardest Fight of Season; Hard Hitting Featured Tilt

In a game featured by the heavy hitting on both teams the C.P.R. mowed the Royal Athletic Park last night. The game was one of the best played this season and provided plenty of excitement for the large turnout of fans. The game was marred by an unfortunate accident that happened in the fifth inning when Catcher McGinnis of the Eagles was injured and forced to retire from the game.

Norm Forbes, the star hurler in the railroaders' camp, was on the mound for the large turnout of fans. He is not in form yet and he was inclined to be wild. Seven men were given free passes, while two runs came across the plate on wild hits.

Noble, who was Manager Le Roy's selection to do the heaving, pitched good ball for five innings but in the sixth his offerings were knocked all over and he was chased to the showers in favor of Lewis, a new chucker on the Eagles' staff.

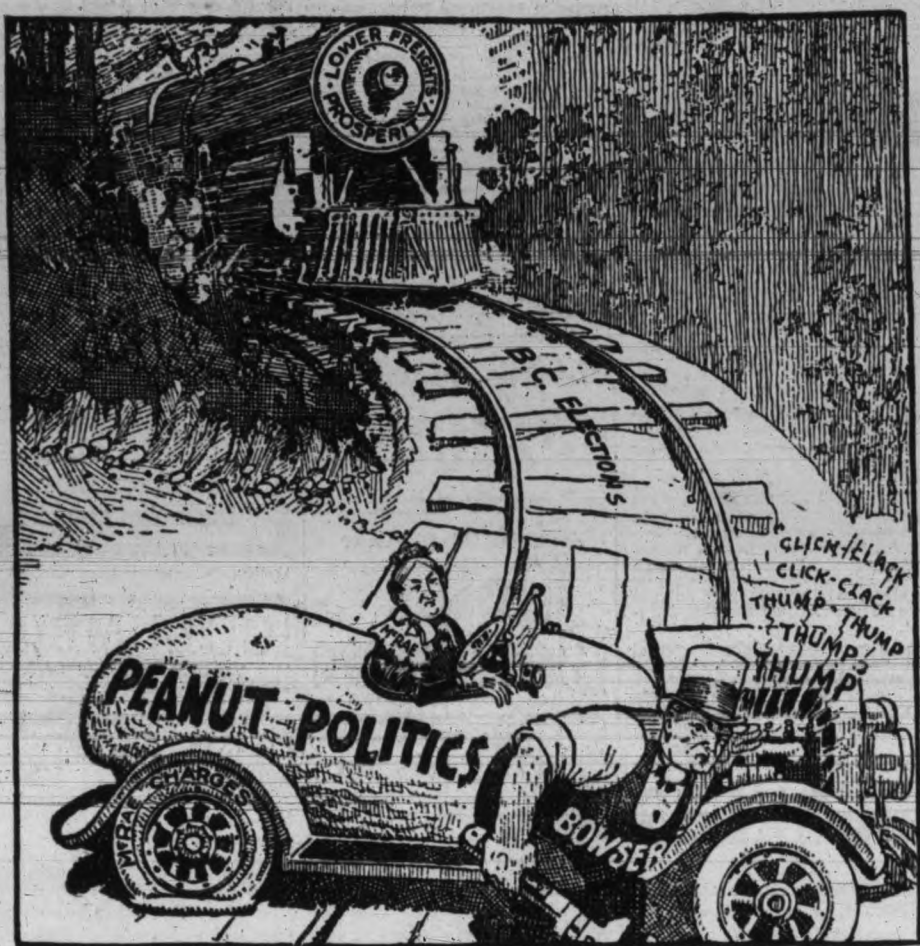

In the first inning the railroaders drove another lone tally over. Roy Copas singled, was advanced around to third and came home on Dunn's wild throw to the first sack.

In the third stanza the feathered tribe secured their first run. Bobby Jordon crashed out a three-bagger to left field. He came home on a pass ball. In the fourth the lodgement tied the score with another brace of counters. Jim Cummins singled, stole second and went to third on McGinnis's hit. He scored on another pass ball. McGinnis came home on a wild throw from Forbes.

In the fifth inning the Eagles obtained the lead for the only time during the battle. John Cummins drove a liner through the shortstop and stole second and third. He came home on a passed ball. Jim Cummins secured a free pass, went to third on a wild throw from Forbes and stole second and third. He came home on McGinnis's hit to centre field.

In the sixth Noble was inclined to be wild after two men had been driven across the plate and two men were on bases he was yanked in favor of Lewis. The new hurler immediately retired the side by striking out two men. The game was called at the end of the sixth on account of darkness.

For the railroaders Falconer Campbell was the heavy slugger with three safeties out three times at bat. Jackson crashed out two safe ones in four trips to the plate. For the Eagles Dunn and McGinnis each hit out two

CLEAR THE TRACK

PEANUT POLITICS is trying to hold up the Relief Express. By your vote remove this obstruction to prosperity on June twentieth. A vote for the Liberal Candidate is a vote for John Oliver, the engineer who will bring this Relief Express, bearing prosperity for British Columbia, safely through. It carries Equalized Freight Rates—the one fundamental that is essential to the prosperity of every man, woman and child in this Province.

Equalized Freight Rates will bring millions to our Province; will double our population in ten years; will develop our ports; will bring to us basic manufacturing industries and their pay-rolls; will develop the necessary market for our agricultural products.

Equalized Freight Rates means more money—more industries—more people—lower taxes—lower cost of living.

Equalized Freight Rates is the hinge on which the door to prosperity hangs. John Oliver and his Liberal Government have the key in the form of the sympathetic ear of a like Liberal Government at Ottawa.

Your vote for the Liberal Candidate is a message to the industrial, financial and political interests of the East that you are behind John Oliver in his fight for prosperity. Remember this on June twentieth.

VOTE LIBERAL

PROVINCIALS AIR VIEWS AT OAK BAY

A. H. McNeill, K.C., Speaks of Third Party's Troubles

With General G. S. Elliott in the chair, over eighty residents of Oak Bay gathered at St. Mary's Hall last night to hear A. H. McNeill, K.C., of Vancouver, speak on behalf of the Provincial candidates in Victoria in the coming election.

Mr. McNeill discussed the causes which brought the Provincial Party into being.

"Think over the matter, in what possible way does the term Liberal or Conservative aid in solving the peculiar problems of British Columbia?" he asked.

"British Columbia is the most over-governed area in the world. Toronto or Montreal have more population, in truth, this Province is really only a great big municipality."

PROFIT BY EXPERIENCE

"As to the charge of Oliver and Bowser that the country will suffer if its control is entrusted to inexperienced Provincials, since 1911 your taxes have mounted to three times what they were. The average taxpayer knows this, and says, 'that is the work of experienced politicians, for goodness sake let us try something else, on no possible test can they do worse any may do a little bit better.'"

THE GENERAL'S TAXES

Mr. McNeill regretted "that a respectable paper like The Colonist should assert that General McTear was in politics to get his taxes reduced."

"I have heard the General speak many times; he wants a cheaper government than either of the older parties are prepared to give, and he expects to profit by lower taxes, in exactly the same way as everyone else in the Province would gain," asserted the speaker, pointing out that Mr. Bowser at Nanaimo had been against voting for the Provincial Party and that Mr. Manson had reciprocated the sentiments at Greenwood.

Mr. McNeill condemned Premier Oliver for taking no action upon the expert advice obtained upon the P.G.E. situation, and declared that his advice to the Provincials, if they attain power, would be to get the best advice available, and then act upon it.

ONE CITY, ONE MEMBER

He considered Vancouver had no need for six members, nor Victoria any use for four; one apiece was ample he believed, and was applauded when he suggested that a Legislature of twenty-six members should replace the present forty-eight seats.

"Rash promises to constituencies, made for the purpose of carrying seats, has been an important factor in making our taxes cost so much," he said, referring to the announcement of the new Interprovincial Highway location, as being an election bait to elect Hon. Dr. MacLean.

FREIGHT RATES

"The Victoria City Council and the Government across James Bay have precisely the same power and influence as to freight rates, and that is nothing. Freight rates in purely a matter for the Federal Government, and Mr. Oliver as a private citizen, or the Vancouver Board of Trade, can do as much on this freight rate case as the Government of the Province," said Mr. McNeill.

Mr. McNeill was accorded much applause when he commenced a brief defence of General McTear—then announced that affidavits and official documents would be shortly forthcoming to prove that General McTear had not a dollar of interest in Port Mann, as charged by the Premier. Mr. McNeill closed with an optimistic forecast of the election amid applause, followed by a vote of thanks for his address.

NOT LIKE ONTARIO

D. S. Tait appealed for funds and workers for the Provincial Party, stressing the need for a hundred scrutineers on election day.

He decried any similarity between the Provincial Party in this Province and the Farmers' Party in Ontario, declaring the Farmers' Party had adopted the attitude of "farmers will now have their turn at spoils hitherto enjoyed by manufacturers," and by so doing had clobbered their cause.

Mr. Tait stated that Liberal and Conservative candidates, in Victoria and elsewhere, have been asserting that abolition of political patronage was impossible.

"If the people of this Province are willing to pay for good government, they will get it; but it must be paid for in cash and work. If the people will give a little of their free time to their political party, the present necessity for the working political healer will end at once."

BANKRUPT OUTLOOK

Andrew Wright said he considered the Province to be on the eve of bankruptcy, a further term of Liberalism would precipitate many financial disasters and hasten emigration from the Province.

FOE IN OUR GATES

Alderman A. E. Todd produced a dossier of City Hall documents to support his charge that the Government had flouted the municipalities. "Had this Provincial Party not come into existence, there would have been a Municipal Party fighting this election," he asserted. "Year by year, the worst enemy the cities and municipalities of British Columbia have had has been the Provincial Government," declared Mr. Todd as a prelude to a long dissertation upon taxation and the seizure by the Province of taxes he considered should belong to the municipalities.

SMITH ON SCHOOLS

Alexander Smith congratulated Victoria upon the candidate seeking election upon all three party platforms. "It is a sign that, because of the Provincials, the old parties have sincerely 'got the wind up.'"

His speech was of fighting timbre, the most successful address of the evening. Mr. Smith made a slashing attack on the educational system, declaring the common grade schools were designed to train children to pass into High School, not to earn a living; while High School courses are designed to pass into university, a destination only valuable to ten per cent of the students.

Alderman Woodward cut his remarks short, being the last speaker. "The Oliver Government is talking about the freight rates and its unblemished future. I think we should recall their very blemished past, with its burden of debt," he remarked.

Bill Embodying Tariff Changes is Advanced in House

Ottawa, June 5.—After the Conservative amendment to the budget had been defeated 131 to 36 in the Commons yesterday afternoon the bill to give effect to the tariff changes proposed in the budget was given second reading and the House went into committee on it.

Sir Henry Drayton recalled a statement which had been made by Robert Forke, Progressive leader, that Canadian papermakers were selling their product at a lower price in the United States than in Canada. In this connection he read a letter from the Howard Smith Paper Company, giving comparative Canadian and export prices for three classes of paper.

Finance, said he had no information as to the relative position of export and Canadian prices, but he did know the publishers for magazines in Canada had asked for magazines in the United States for removal of the duty on certain classes of paper on the ground that they could buy it more cheaply in the United States than in Canada.

Robert Forke said he had received his information from publishers of magazines in Canada. The information he had been given was that higher grades of paper could be obtained more cheaply in the United States than in Canada.

Sir Henry Drayton replied that the matter in dispute was not one of relative prices in Canada and the United States, but a definite charge that Canadian papermakers were selling their product more cheaply for export than for the Canadian market. There was no evidence to support such a statement.

The bill now stands for third reading.

McRAE MADE HUGE PORT MANN PROFITS OR ACTED AS SHIELD FOR FRAUD, OLIVER CHARGES

Producing records of the Land Registry Office at New Westminster to support his statements, the Premier declared that the Port Mann townsite scheme was one of the most disreputable real estate promotions in the history of B. C.

The land registry records at New Westminster, he went on, showed that General McRae had paid $436,000 for the land later included in Port Mann. He had sold most of the land for $1,135,000 more than he had paid for the whole area.

"I have put my name to that statement and every dollar I have in the world stands behind it," the Premier declared. "I take nothing back. Those are the land registry records and will be accepted by any court in the land."

The Premier quoted the Provincial Party's affidavit in which it is asserted that General McRae merely acted for Mackenzie and Mann in the Port Mann deal. "If that is true," Mr. Oliver affirmed, "then he lent his name to Mackenzie and Mann as a shield to cover up their disreputable transactions. And I say that if a man lends his name to another man as a shield to cover up that man's doings he is as fully responsible as if he were doing those things on his own account."

"No one has ever fastened a lie on me and they are not going to get away with this," the Premier declared.

The Premier said in the beginning of his speech that he found in the public mind widespread misconception about the functions of cabinet ministers. Many people seemed to think, he said, that ministers could do anything and spend money as they pleased. As a matter of fact, he pointed out, the ministers were restricted in a very stringent way.

SOCIAL LEGISLATION

The Premier claimed for his Government that it had passed more social legislation of advantage to the people than all the other provinces of Canada combined. With the possible exception of New Zealand, he said, British Columbia led the whole British Empire in humane social legislation.

Mr. Oliver referred also to the new Elections Act which, he said, was "fraud proof." The only man who had attempted to evade the law, he said, had been sent to jail for six months. As a result of the new court of revision system 10,000 voters who otherwise would have been disfranchised, he stated, had been placed on the voters' list.

The fact that there were a number of lady candidates in the field pleased the Premier. These ladies, he said, were the equal of the men candidates or superior to them on the average.

The Government, Mr. Oliver pointed out, had done much for women. The Mothers' Act, he said, had been of enormous assistance to destitute mothers and, moreover, had helped the municipalities in handling poverty. The Government, he stated, paid $935 a year on mothers' pensions for every 1,000 people in the Province. This, he said, was a higher figure than that prevailing in any other province. By other legislation, the Premier explained, the Government had protected women in connection with their husbands' estates in the guardianship of children and in business where minimum wages had been established.

WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION

One of the most important laws fathered by the Liberal Party, Mr. Oliver declared, was the Workmen's Compensation Act, under which working men and their families were protected in case of accident. The Act, he asserted, was the direct result of the efforts of the Liberal Party. To-day 150,000 working men in British Columbia were protected by the Act. These men were employed in 4,500 industrial firms. In 1923 over $200,000 a month was paid out in compensation, Mr. Oliver stated. Between 8,000 and 9,000 people were receiving assistance in this way monthly now.

Much had been done by the Government, said the Premier, for neglected children. A home had been established for them and the Government had passed a law under which juvenile offenders could be tried in special juvenile courts. The results of these measures had been remarkable, he declared. Many wayward children were now being made into good citizens. The Government's efforts to cope with tuberculosis, too, had been thoroughly successful.

"When Mr. Bowser talks about our squander mania, just look around and examine the work done by these institutions," the Premier advised. "Let our opponents look over these institutions one by one and say whether they would close them or not. That is a fair test."

LOWER TAXATION

The Premier ridiculed Mr. Bowser's promises of economy and lower taxes.

"When the devil was sick, the devil a saint would be," the Premier quoted. "His promises of economy don't square with his record."

The Premier charged, had not given the public a true idea of its civil service expenses. It had shown an expenditure of $1,450,000 on the civil service in its last year, whereas under the present Government's bookkeeping system the cost would have been shown as $2,223,000. This difference was caused by the fact that many civil service salaries, under the old Government, had not been included in the civil service list.

"Mr. Bowser says he'll cut the salary list $1,000,000 a year," the Premier remarked. "It is easy to see, in view of these facts, how he would do it."

The increase in the Province's total salary bill, the Premier explained, had been due to the increase in the cost of living and in the volume of Government business. As a matter of fact, he said, the civil servants had received smaller salary increases than any other class of workers. If the Government deserved any censure it was for the small advances allowed to its employees.

Some of the new departments and services created by the Government to cope with new problems and to handle new business were described by the Premier. These developments had been responsible for an increase in the total number of civil servants.

The Government, he declared, spent less than half as much of its revenue on administration costs as the former Government.

"Neither Mr. Bowser nor anyone else can get away with charges of extravagance in the civil service."

Answering Mr. Bowser's charge that high taxation was holding up industrial expansion, Mr. Oliver quoted the Canada Year Book to show that the number of industrial firms in British Columbia had increased from 1,007 in 1915 to 2,809 in 1922—a truly remarkable growth in view of the troublesome times through which Canada had been passing. While Opposition speakers were telling the public that the Province's population was decreasing, the school population had increased fifty per cent in recent years, the Premier stated. This reflected the growth of the population.

"SANE DECENCY"

Turning to the Government's treatment of municipalities, the Premier went on, "I challenge anyone to show me any government in the world which treats municipalities as generously as we do." In 1915, he stated, the Government had paid $1,009,000 to the municipalities and in 1922, $3,871,000—an increase of almost 400 per cent. The Conservative candidates in Victoria, he declared, had misrepresented these facts. "Surely there should be sane decency in the discussion of public affairs," he said. "I often feel like taking a club to preachers who talk about politics being so dirty that a man cannot be in it without being corrupted."

"I want to tell you that the public is ten times as eager to be bought as the Government is to buy them. If politicians are crooked it is because the public insists on them being so. Scarcely a day passes without someone coming to me and asking for favors on the ground that they would be of political advantage to the Government."

"You're not used to being told these things. Well, I'm old enough now to be ready to talk to you frankly."

BOWSER'S RECORD
Mr. Bowser's promises of economy Mr. Oliver proceeded, did not square with his past. In the last six years of its existence, the Conservative Government had spent $19,810,000 more than it had collected, and in addition had expended $11,000,000 raised by the dissipation of natural resources. Thus the old Government had gone behind some $30,000,000. In brief, the old Government had expended thirty-six per cent more money than it had collected. The Liberal Government, on the other hand, had overexpended only eleven per cent, although it had had to handle all the problems arising out of the war.

While the Government was attacked for spending $30,000 on its freight-rate fight, the advantage to British Columbia achieved by this expenditure had been estimated at $2,000,000 a year. This contrasted with the old Government's expenditure of huge commissions—some of them as high as $50,000—to men who negotiated the removal of Indians from their reserves.

"We are not perfect, we make mistakes," the Premier observed, "but when it comes to our record, we are ready to compare it to that of our opponents any time and all the time."

The Premier was amused, he said, by the statement of the Provincial Party that he had appointed M. A. MacDonald, K.C., to the Appeal Court Bench. Such an appointment, of course, could be made by no one but the Federal Government.

"As a matter of fact, I never knew of the appointment until I read of it in the newspapers," Mr. Oliver declared.

DEFENDS P.E. COSTS

The Premier defended the Government's handling of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. Of the $20,000,000 spent on the line since the Government had taken office $12,700,000 had been absorbed in fixed interest charges. The new administration had found, he said, many serious blunders in the construction and location of the line. To rectify these blunders had cost millions.

"That road is the reason for your taxation—a condition created by the Bowser Government," the Premier declared. "That road costs us $2,500,000 a year."

"What does Mr. Bowser suggest? He says finish the line to Prince George—concentrate your efforts to get it to the Peace River country. Well, I shall resist the extension of the line into the Peace River area by the Province," the Premier declared.

He explained that he was pressing a scheme under which one of the transcontinental railways would tap the Peace River area and connect this life with the Pacific Great Eastern. Only of late months had progress in this project been possible, he said.

"I have this matter well in hand, and I have hope of success," the Premier remarked. "The Government at Ottawa is looking to the West. At the next election the Government must get support in the West or go down to defeat. We are going to have a real policy of Western development."

The Premier added that, if necessary, he was prepared to recommend a provincial land subsidy to make possible a Peace River extension by one of the transcontinental railway systems.

THE RATES FIGHT

The Premier concluded his speech with a brief discussion of the transportation rate question. He declared that the Conservative Government had not secured rate reductions for the West. He added that Hon. H. H. Wells, M.P. for Vancouver, Centre, and Hon. S. F. Tolmie, M.P. for Victoria had done nothing to assist his fight for lower rates.

"I shall have pleasure if I meet these two gentlemen, who are out here to help Mr. Bowser to tell them that they did nothing when the matter was before Parliament in 1920 to get lower rates for Westward-moving grain, and that they are now neglecting their sessional duties."

"The Conservative Party had its opportunity, and it did not carry out this rate struggle. We have carried it on, and if we can't get the results we want otherwise I am prepared to make this a political issue. The defeat of the Government cannot be interpreted except as a disavowal of this struggle."

THE CANDIDATE

Mr. Carlow defended the Government's Redistribution Bill which, he said, had been based on equity and justice. He asked the people of Cobble Hill, who were affected by the measure to consider the matter from a broad, unprejudiced viewpoint.

"I am daily beginning to realize that if all we hear from the opposition candidates is true then all my business experience has been wasted," said Mr. Carlow, defending the Government's financial record. The former Government, he recalled, had spent thirty-six per cent of its revenue on administration costs while the present Government spent only sixteen and one-half per cent of its income for this purpose.

Mr. Carlow ridiculed Mr. Bowser's promises of financial reforms. The Conservative leader, he said, was attacking the Government for borrowing money and promising himself to borrow money and loan it to farmers.

General McRae, said Mr. Carlow, had admitted that he was running simply to cut down his taxes. If other people's taxes were cut as the General proposed to cut his taxes the Government's revenue would be reduced by $2,000,000 a year, Mr. Carlow asserted.

"The speaker poked fun at the Provincial references to the provincial debt. In the last ten days Provincial Party leaders had told the public the debt was $90,000,000, $93,000,000, and $137,000,000.

MALAHAT IMPROVEMENT

Stories that the Government had squandered $60,000 on oiling the Malahat were denied by Mr. Carlow. The cost of the work had been estimated at $15,000 and actually had been lower than the estimate, Mr. Carlow declared.

"There is no question that the Government will be re-elected by a much larger majority than it has at present and if you would like to be represented on the Government side of the House I would ask for your support," Mr. Carlow went on.

GOOD WEAR

MADE IN CANADA

A Complete Line of Tires

Goodyear recognizes the definite need for a number of different types of tires.

Goodyear builds in the All-Weather Cord the acknowledged tire leader of the World in mileage, road-grip and beauty. Its price is lower than ever before.

But in order to have still less invested in your car you may want a tire at a still lower price. So with road-grip equal to any but the All-Weather Tread, Goodyear has produced other high-quality, low cost-per-mile tires bearing the Goodyear name.

HIGH-PRESSURE TIRES

Wingfoot Fabric

An outstanding selection by the manufacturers of light cars. Heavily demanded the world over; guaranteed—bears the Goodyear name. Hundreds of thousands sold during past five years; only a fraction of 1% presented for adjustment.

Wingfoot Cord

Goodyear's recognition of the fact that many people want to consider seriously the amount they invest in their cars. Excelled in road-grip by the All-Weather Tread only; excelled in mileage by no other.

All-Weather Fabric

A tire which many years ago introduced the idea of, and proved the value of, Oversize and Road-grip. A popular and low cost-per-mile tire, especially for dirt roads or business cars where road-grip and cost-per-mile are more important than the riding quality of low air-pressure.

All-Weather Cord

The peak of road-grip and mileage combined. A great number of Canadian tire repairmen and car dealers say that its mileage exceeds by at least 25% the mileage of the next best cord tire. Its road-grip is apparent upon examination; more appreciated in use. Minor accidents—the result of stopping a few inches too late—cause most of the repair bills to fenders, lamps and radiators. Even collision insurance does not cover these small bills of less than $25.00—but these bills are a high percentage of annual tire cost. Road-grip combined with surplus mileage makes the All-Weather Cord the most widely-used cord tire in the world.

BALLOON TIRES

For Your Present Wheels

Flexible, low pressure tires which act like pillows of air under your car. Developed by Goodyear so that you can have balloon tire advantages without change of wheels or rims. Go on most present cars—at relatively small increase over the price per tire which you have been paying. The Goodyear Selected Dealer can tell you what size of balloon tire replaces your present tires and can equip your car with two or four balloon tires as you wish.

For New, Smaller Wheels

Should your car not provide sufficient clearance for Goodyear Balloon Tires on your present rims, see your Goodyear Selected Dealer, your car dealer, or the nearest Goodyear branch, regarding new, smaller wheels, and Goodyear Balloon Tires to fit.

TRUCK TIRES

All-Weather Cord

Massive pneumatic tires which cushion trucks over all kinds of roads. Enlarge your trucking radius greatly. Add speed and so reduce costs. Give the road-grip of the All-Weather Tread. Protect fragile loads. Render splendid mileage.

All-Weather, All-Rubber Cushion

Cushioning and road-grip added to the all-rubber truck tire. Saves the truck and the load to a surprising extent. Resists skidding. Gives splendid traction—starts the truck off without "spinning" wheels. All-Weather Tread can be recut when the original blocks are worn down.

MOTORCYCLE TIRES

The All-Weather Tread protects the motorcyclist just as it does the motorist. Its great road-grip is needed even more in rounding corners and in travelling country roads. Just as famous for mileage as its bigger brothers.

BICYCLE TIRES

The smallest tire of the Goodyear line—but the same high quality as any Goodyear Tire. Has the sharp-edged blocks of the All-Weather Tread to protect against skidding. Tough tread stock resists punctures and gives very long mileage.

The Goodyear Selected Dealer

There are about 10,000 tire dealers in Canada—about four times too many. Too many profits, too much duplicating of effort, too many stocks of tires.

Now Goodyear sells through only 2,500 selected dealers. And because the Goodyear line is the leading line, these selected dealers in every community make it possible for you to get Goodyear Tires from the concern best fitted to give you heaping value and real service.

Let the Goodyear Selected Dealer show you his complete line, explain the advantages of each and tell you of the service they are giving your neighbors.

Uncle Wiggily and the Carpet Tacks

(Copyright, 1924, by McClure News paper Syndicate)

By Howard R. Garis

"Uncle Wiggily, if you want to do anything while I am out to-day," said Nurse Jane to the bunny gentleman on a Friday morning, "you might pull the tacks out of the parlor carpet and spread it on the grass."

"Oh, ho!" laughed the rabbit uncle. "Thank you! And I suppose, after I pull the tacks out of the carpet I can put the carpet out on the grass and beat the dust out."

"You may if you wish," answered Nurse Jane, "but I was going to have the circus elephant come in and beat the carpet with his trunk. However, if you want to do it—"

"Oh, no," said Uncle Wiggily, quickly. "I don't want to. Taking the tacks out will be enough for me."

"You'll find the tack puller on the shelf over the cellar stairs," explained the muskrat lady, "and after you take the tacks out of the carpet you may go adventuring, if you wish."

"I guess I'll wish to all right, after pulling tacks," said the bunny. "It's hard work. Where are you going, Jane?"

"Down to the seven and eight cent store to get a new pair of diamond earrings," answered the muskrat lady, and away she hopped, while Uncle Wiggily, slowly twinking his pink nose, went to look for the tack puller, or pulley. He found two of them on the shelf over the cellar stairs.

"Hum! Two tack pullers," mused Nurse Jane, thinking, "I suppose Nurse Jane thinks I can use one in each paw and work twice as fast. Or maybe she put two here in case of twins. Or perhaps she thinks some of my friends, like Mr. Twitzytail, the pig gentleman, will happen along and help me. Well, anyway,

"I'll give you each ten cents if you pull the tacks from the carpet for me," said Mr. Longears. "Will you?"

"We'd do anything for you, Uncle Wiggily," grunted Floppy.

"But the heads of the tacks are sharp and might cut our noses," said Curly.

"I'll fasten tack pullers on your noses," said the bunny.

"That will be fine," cried the piggie boys. So a tack lifter was tied to Floppy's nose with strong cord, and another on his brother's nose. Then the little pigs went around the edges of the carpet, sticking the pullers under the edges of the tacks and lifting them out.

PROVINCE'S CREDIT STANDS HIGH WITH ENGLISH FINANCIERS

Exchange Rate Spoils Money Raising in Old Country

"British Columbia stands, in the opinion of London, English, financial houses, so far as credit is concerned, as high, if not higher, than the Dominion of Canada," said Hon. John Hart, at a crowded meeting in the Gordon Head Hall, speaking on behalf of Hon. F. A. Pauline, candidate in Saanich, last night, and his statement was greeted with applause. "But the Government cannot borrow from the Motherland for the simple reason that the rate of exchange is so disadvantageous," continued the speaker. "The situation proves, however, the standing of this, the Liberal government, financially."

Mr. Hart pointed out to the meeting the decided betterment in condition in the province since the lower regime passed the reins of government into more competent hands. British Columbia's credit was as low as it could be in 1915, without the interest on borrowed money and the rate of commission to brokers being suicidal to the provincial authorities. Mr. Hart asserted that the Liberal administration had coped with the matter. Their policy had been to keep the expenditure within the estimated revenue, and with this fact known to the financial houses of America it was easy to get money. "I have never paid one dollar of commission during my term of office for money gained through the sale of provincial bonds," Mr. Hart said. "Anyone who believes that the gross debt is the actual debt of the province knows nothing of finance," continued Mr. Hart. He went on to prove that British Columbia's debt was only $15,000,000, and asserted that the statements of his opponents in the political field were false when they said that the debt was $137,000,000.

"We do not count among our assets such things as the Provincial Parliament buildings, the multitude of new and permanent roads built throughout the province, the conservation of natural resources, and the many other improvements and savings wrought for the province through the Liberal legislation," said the speaker, "but these are assets, none the less and might well be considered as such."

Mr. Hart deprecated the attack of W. J. Bowser, K.C., upon the government for its alleged extravagance in building such institutions as the mental hospital at New Westminster, and the new hospital at Victoria, and stated that there for any more persons than are already housed in the asylum," said Mr. Hart, "and contrary to statement of adversary politicians the asylum is not filled with foreigners, but with friends and relatives of prominent families as well as many others. It is for these unfortunate whom we wish to see well taken care of and properly housed, that we spent $250,000 on the asylum," he said. "This our opponents term as extravagance."

MR. PAULINE
Hon. F. A. Pauline, Speaker of the Provincial House, followed Mr. Hart on the platform. He went back to the times when the notorious Mackenzie and Mann exploiting parties, worked amongst the people of England and Canada in the Port Mann deal and the whaling enterprise on the Pacific Coast. Such a man as the Provincial Party leader "was not fit to lace Premier Oliver's boots," Mr. Pauline said. He spoke also of the reason for the export duty having been left off the logs which were shipped from B. C. annually. But he showed clearly that the amount of uncut timber sent out of the province to the United States was only ten per cent of the total cut, and that this could well be handled in British Columbia. The hardships which the duty on logs would work were relieved by lumbermen throughout the province, and several camps had stopped operations whilst awaiting the outcome of the elections, for if a duty was placed on exported logs they would lose all their profits, he stated.

Mr. Pauline replied to assertions of T. G. Coventry, relative to the Liberal and Conservative expenditures upon the roads of Saanich, with Government figures, asserting those which were offered by his opponent were incorrect, even the Conservative expenditures being under-estimated. The year in which the Liberal regime had spent the greatest amount of money on Saanich roads was ignored by the Conservative candidate, said Mr. Pauline, and in this period approximately $51,000 was spent. This brought the total of money spent by the Oliver Administration past that of the Conservative regime, Mr. Pauline stated.

"We are not stifling industry or the residents of the province through taxation," continued Mr. Pauline, "for we return to the municipalities $110 for every $100 we receive from them during the year in taxation. How, then, can we be accused of working hardships upon the people of the province?"

Trustee Beckwith expressed regret that there was not a full meeting. It seemed to him that the interim report covered a large part of the work. On other points some additional information was desired, inasmuch as the finance committee was not yet ready to report fully, he recommended that the interim report should be taken up clause by clause.

Trustee Brown reviewed what course had been taken since the committee was chosen in February. The committee had considered the notice of motion with regard to fees and had, he recalled, reported against fees in the High School in its report. To Trustee Litchfield, Trustee Beckwith indicated that several questions must be reported upon before the report could be considered as complete, and also in light of the promised provincial educational survey. In this latter regard there might be some change in the whole system. To launch into marked changes now, before the survey was in hand, was in his judgment premature until they knew the outcome of the survey.

Trustee Brown welcomed the suggestion that economies were promised by the finance committee and he hoped the educational survey would also result in economies.

The chairman, Trustee Jay, declared that the minute of the board restricted consideration of Trustee Brown's motion and the finance committee concluded its report.

"I don't see how you can take up the motion in the face of the resolution," said Trustee Beckwith. He advocated proceeding with the interim report meanwhile.

Consideration was then given to the interim report, a piece of which has already appeared in The Times.

THE CLAUSE
The chairman ruled against discussion of Trustee Brown's motion in conjunction with the clause in the report reporting adversely to High School tuition fees.

Trustee Brown declared the meeting was called for the express purpose of dealing with the principle of his motion. He objected to proceeding which would prevent consideration of his motion, which had been awaiting action for months pending presentation of the report on school economies.

Trustee Brown then moved his resolution in favor of fees as an amendment to the clause in the report dealing with High School fees, adversely to the terms of the published motion.

"You are trying to camouflage me on this question," declared Trustee Brown, a statement to which Trustee Beckwith dissented. He appealed to the chair to reject the amendment as improper.

The chairman ruled against the amendment in the form before the board, and thereupon Trustee Brown tried an amendment that the whole of the controversial clauses should be deleted from the report. This did not suit the board, and eventually it was accepted on the basis of a vote.

THE MOTION
Trustee Brown said he introduced the motion as a taxpayer desiring economies. He argued that adequate provision should be made for the indigent pupils through the discretion of the board. The fee was so small that students could readily earn the sum in their spare hours, he declared. He argued for small fees, and that $3190 would be brought in from his proposal.

Trustee Peden declared he had often wondered if fees did restrict attendance which he doubted—and he believed fees might eliminate some of the students who were spending their time at school merely to fill in time. He appealed to Municipal Inspector Deane if such were not true?

Mr. Deane agreed there were such pupils and believed something could be done to require withdrawal of such students on failure to show satisfactory progress.

Trustee Peden pointed out that some method of elimination of non-workers among the students was desirable. What was wanted was elimination of wasted education, he said.

"You might penalize three-fourths of the students for the sake of one-fourth," remarked Mr. Deane, as Mr. Peden continued.

Trustee Beckwith pointed out that fees had been established for pupils who stayed an extra year. In a general way the conditions complained of by Mr. Peden had existed from the beginning of time. The board must use common sense.

Mr. Peden: "Has the board considered the reduction of age limit to fifteen years?"

Mr. Beckwith: "I hope not. The province of Ontario has increased the age to eighteen. No province of Canada has made a reduction so far."

AGAINST THE SYSTEM
Continuing he opposed the motion on principle. Trustee Beckwith declared the public was against the fee system. The trustees quoted from questionnaires recently received from various centres in answer to the board's inquiries. In Vancouver an effort to charge fees had collapsed when it was tried. For his part he saw no objection to putting on a fee for careless students.

Trustee Beckwith declared that a wrong view existed with regard to education in Victoria.

Some of those who advocated educational restriction were doing the city a disservice. Mr. Beckwith asserted, and its consequences would have a most injurious effect on the community. Alluding to Mayor Hayward's recent statement in finances he believed they would gain little tax relief by the change. Trustee Beckwith quoted figures to show that the increase in cost of education in Victoria was small, and they were doing nothing to impair the progress and development of the schools, meanwhile. Perhaps the Department of Education would seize the opportunity, and withdraw the grant per capita totalling $15,000, if fees were imposed in the High School.

"We should not tempt them to do anything of the kind," he asserted. He regarded the scheme as a boomerang which would increase rather than decrease in the future. Trustee Peden defended the principle as possible of adjustment without pressing on students.

THREE REASONS
Trustee Litchfield voiced his objection to the plan on a threefold basis:

1. Spirit of tradition in Canada against fees.

2. Is it sound?

3. Is it fair to all alike?

In the third case he described it as a most idiosyncratic wedge into their educational system. Looking over the questionnaires he reached the conclusion that they might learn from other cities. For instance in Toronto and Edmonton owners of property assessed in the city for $3,000 upwards domiciled in another area could send their children to city schools without extra cost.

A CHALLENGE
Trustee Litchfield pointed out that eighteen months ago he had made suggestions for economy which the committee was only now beginning to appreciate.

If the Legislature failed through the survey there was an alternative that he could suggest.

If Trustee Brown would take the opinion of the electors at the next civic election in favor of High School fees, the speaker was ready to throw down the gauntlet and challenge him in the election.

Trustee Peden spoke on behalf of the imposition of a fee in case of failure to pass the necessary examinations by the age of sixteen.

AMENDMENT LOST
Chairman Jay then submitted the amendment which was rejected, but no names were taken. The chairman announced that he should record himself against the amendment.

The clauses were approved, and the debate adjourned, on the motion of Trustee Litchfield.

Recommendations to the interim report with regard to physical training, retiring allowances to teachers and similar matters were deferred.
